Dr. Carl Bryant, Vice President, to Present at People 2008 – Saba Global Summit

MINNEAPOLIS (October 16, 2008) – During Saba’s Global Summit, Personnel Decisions International’s Dr. Carl Bryant will be presenting “Managing Multiple Generations in Your Organization.” Bryant, Vice President and General Manager, will be addressing questions, such as:

- Is your organization facing a shortage of leaders due to baby boomer retirement?
- Are your managers struggling to motivate employees of various ages?
- Is your HR department at odds with how to reach four generations of workers?

Using insight from Work with Me: A New Lens on Leading the Multigenerational Workforce, Bryant will provide an interactive presentation on how to collaborate across the generations. Attendees will discover ways to employ generational understanding as a talent strategy and maximize the strengths of each generation in their work environment.

“We are seeing the need for organizations to find ways to coordinate talent management and engagement strategies across all generations,” said Bryant. “We are truly encouraged to see how Saba and PDI can present the generational lens of Work with Me at People 2008.”

Work with Me, by PDI’s Debra S. Magnuson and Lora S. Alexander, provides realistic, specific actions that leaders can take to leverage the strengths of each generation. Additionally, readers will find solutions for talent management challenges that affect succession planning, retention, and employee engagement.

People 2008, Saba’s annual global user conference, will be in Washington D.C. October 20-23. People 2008, offers customers and partners from around the world the opportunity to learn about the latest trends and best practices in learning, performance, talent, and collaboration and how to build a world class organization with Saba's People Management Solutions.

In his role as general manager of PDI’s Washington D.C. office, Bryant has responsibility for leading PDI’s executive development activities within a five-state region. Bryant has worked with numerous organizations and thousands of executives as they grappled with issues related to strategic planning and leadership development. He has worked internationally— in Australia, the United Kingdom, Venezuela, Saudi Arabia, and Bahrain—and is viewed as an expert instructor and program director.
